

Bio

Since the young age of 15, Adam Day has been writing and performing stunningly mature and heartfelt music that has made its way into the hearts of nearly anyone who has had a note catch their ear. Beginning in high school, Adam spent most of his nights staying up late writing, singing and performing. Most of his teen years were spent in local coffeehouses and open mic nights.

Since growing into the college scene, Adam has wowed large local and college audiences at almost every venue in his hometown of Ithaca, NY. Continued success has taken Day up and down the East Coast.

Adam Day is now armed with both an acoustic trio and a full band setup. He has recently released 'I Stayed Up Late to Make This' which includes a dynamic collection of new material in organic acoustic arrangements recorded independently. On top of Adam's rich vocals, his quirky and lovable performance with the trio leaves people feeling comforted, moved, and charmed. There is certainly much in store for this new artist with nowhere to go but up.
