

BIO

A thunderstorm in your house, an ocean in your truck, Robert Stack from Unsolved Mysteries as a love machine, a little kid on your nerves, fireworks gone bad, the Predator is your girlfriend, and one simple guy trying to make sense of it all... meet Steve Caouette. Steve capitalizes on every opportunity to showcase his impressionist abilities to the delight of the audience. So go ahead and try him. He takes requests. This master of sound can duplicate just about anything.

Steve's comedy is a unique blend of impressions found within the stories he shares, which everyone can relate to. From oddball impressions, like Bob Ross, the PBS painter having too much fun, to the subtle creak of a door, every moment is amplified to bring the audience into Steve's world! The audience becomes part of the show when this master of sound and impression will take requests of what sounds to recreate, the more bizarre the request, the funnier it gets!

Steve worked with 'The Late Show with David Letterman,' in the 90's, and now performs at colleges, clubs and casinos across the country. Recently Steve has co-starred in the independent movie, Tough Hombre. He has performed at clubs such as Comedy Stop at the Tropicana in Las Vegas & Atlantic City, Boston Comedy Connection, Portland Comedy Connection, Comedy Works and Comedy Nest (Montreal). Steve is making his way towards you... so take off your 3-D glasses, open your ears and be prepared for a show that's never the same twice! A little crazy, a tad zany, and a whole lot of hilarious, Steve Caouette may leave you in stitches, or at least be able to replicate the sound of the stitches being put in!
