

Jenn Marie

“This girl can sang!”

*-Coffeehouse Chair
Winthrop University, SC*

If she was from Philadelphia you might call her Pink, if she was from Nashville you might call her Lisa Marie Presley, but after seeing her perform you will certainly call her talented, with a voice that quiets even the toughest critics. Originally from Rochester, N.Y., Jenn has the poise and grace of a seasoned professional and the spunk and charisma of a fresh new sound. A brilliant and talented singer/songwriter who comes armed with a piano and a voice so distinct, it has been said that you'll wonder why this young girl isn't already at the top of the charts.

Jenn has made a name for herself by playing a unique style of piano-based pop, rock, and jazz to scads of audiences throughout upstate New York. Jenn and her band have opened shows for a diverse group of acts including Sarah Harmer, Rick Derringer, November Project, Mark Kozelek, Great Big Sea, and Splashdown.

Jenn attributes her appeal to her love of music inspired by artists such as Janis Joplin, Alanis Morissette, U2, Tori Amos, and Dave Matthews. Her unique style has been described as rocking Alicia Keys and a soulful Janis Joplin. Side by side with various producers and musicians as companions, Jenn has fought her way to find a ripe and warm voice full of heartfelt passion. Her songwriting styles include spunky jazz jams, bluesy pop songs, and dulcet ballads. “Hearing her sing you realize she is one of those rare artists that could achieve both mainstream success and musical credibility at the same time,” revered one critic.

Countless gigs, 3 records, owning and operating her very own independent record label, and an unflinching determination has lead Jenn to where she is today.
