

supergush DUO

Supergush melds inspired musicianship with a pop sensibility to create well crafted tunes you can't get out of your head - and don't want to! Their original tunes are combined with repertoire of modern rock favorites from bands like Third Eye Blind, Barenaked Ladies, Creed and more.

Formed 8 years ago, the genesis of supergush comes from college friends Chris Krupa and Terry Clifton. Since meeting while undergraduates at LeMoyne College, the two have performed music together in various bands and as an acoustic duo. The supergush duo is an acoustic version of their four-piece band.

In the Spring of 1998, supergush released their first CD, titled gush, to uniformly rave reviews. It became the top selling local CD the month it was released, and received 1999 SAMMY (Syracuse Area Music Award) nominations for Best Local Recording and Best Rock Band. In the spring of 2000 supergush completed their second studio album, Confusion Among the Masses. In the fall of 2002, supergush released, "Radius." The CD is a live compilation that encompasses five years of shows across upstate NY. The latest release from the band is "Victims of Routine," the fourth CD from the band which was released in January 2005. The CD delivers the sound of supergush that thousands of fans across the northeast have become accustomed to and enjoy!

When they're not recording tracks, the band is playing shows all over the northeast, from Maine to Ohio, and everywhere in between. Through it all, the band continues to retain what brought them together in the first place: friendship, drive, talent, and a desire to share their music with as many people as possible.
